A guide to higher learning at INTI

University of Hertfordshire, UK

The University of Hertfordshire Business School has been providing business education since 1965. We have over 3,000 students, including 500 postgraduates, based at our new purpose-built campus in Hatfield. We have students from over 50 countries with 2,500 students studying UHBS programmes at our partner institutions overseas.

We offer a wide range of taught undergraduate and postgraduate programmes, along with research degrees, professional qualifications and consultancy.

The School prides itself on the vocational relevance of its programmes, and focuses on providing education that prepares graduates for their future careers. This is achieved through our strong links with industry - allowing us to draw from both theoretical and practical advancements in the field when developing our programmes.
